WRITING

William Shakespeare wanted to say that stage is social life where everyone has got a social role.

In my opinion, stage is our life because everyone people play some roles. Every social status has got a lot of social role. Social role is behavior which people want to feel and see from you. People have got some "tasks", that they have to do.

For example, Svetlana is my mother and director of a shop. She have to ~~do~~ work for me, that buy some things for school, buy foods and a lot of another things. And at work she must do a lot of. My mother must control shop assistant, control behavior people at shop supermarket and help another people to consultase their. My mum has got two social roles, where she has got a lot of "tasks". The second example is Vladimir. He is an engineer at local station and my father. He work for me, as my mother ar, and protect station from another problems. This is their social role, this is their role in a stage.

In conclusion, I want to finish my thoughts, everyone is an actor and life is our theatre, where people are doing their "tasks" of life.
