Writing

On Monday I had to go to another city, because of my university. At first I wanted to take my dog Charlie with me, but soon remembered where I was going. So, Charlie stayed at home. It was very sad, when he saw I was leaving but I could do nothing. I took my bag and went out of the house. I took a bus to the city, and in the morning I was at the university on time. I ~~did~~ didn't think about my dog, because I asked Lucy, my neighbour to look after it. I have done everything at the university, and prepared to go home, but that day I met my old friend, so I decided to stay with him for two days. I stayed in city two days more than I expected, so I said goodbye to a friend of mine and took a bus back to home. In the morning I was in my town. But then I remembered that I asked Lucy to look after Charlie only for two days. I hurried home to Charlie, who was isolate for two days. I opened the door and saw that the house was destroyed. Although Charly wasn't a big one, he crashed all the table lamps and tore all my pillows. Also he tore a box near the door. It was my fault, so I wasn't angry. I just breathed deeply and went to clean and repara my house.
